Operating Loss Shown for 1946 By Westinghouse

Gwilym A. Price, president of the Westinghouse Electric corporation, today took issue with statements he attributed to leaders of organized labor that corporation profits can provide "higher individual company wages."

He also disclosed that the company's operating loss this year will be more than $50,000,000, but tax law provisions will give the huge firm, which has 5,200 employes in its Mansfield plant, a net income of more than $4,000,000.

In his annual year-end statement issued from the Pittsburgh office, he said the company suffered an operating loss of 11 cents on every dollar's worth of merchandise sold during 1946.

He said, however, that a carry-back provision of the wartime corporation tax law had given the company a net income of $4,411,481 for the first 11 months of the year.

* * *

'Instructive' Balance.

Price declared it was "instructive" to balance Westinghouse's 1946 operating loss "against the statements of those who charge American industry with making 'staggering' and 'unconscionable' profits out of which increased wage scales could be paid."

"It is true," he continued, "that total profits of all corporations in 1946 will be large compared with any peacetime year since 1929. They should be larger in a year of near-capacity production.

"No past peacetime year has approached 1946 in dollar volume of production, in national income and in wages and salaries paid to individuals."

* * *

Quotes CIO.

Price quoted the CIO publication "Economic Outlook" as estimating 1946 corporation incomes after taxes would total $11.8 billions which he said "is a high figure but we hope it will prove correct," and added:

"Profits are neither 'staggering' nor 'unscrupulous,' nor dangerous to business stability. On the contrary, they are necessary so that corporations can increase and improve their facilities and provide more jobs. Corporations should apologize when they fail to earn profits—not when they succeed. . . . If unwise wage demands wipe out future profits, who then will be willing to provide the money to keep the business alive?"

Cites Carry-Back Tax.

The carry-back tax, Price said, gave the company a net income of $4,411,481 on sales amounting to $254,338,189 during the first 11 months of 1946.

He added that the carry-back provision of the tax law had saved the job security of the company's 96,000 employes and staved off a crippling blow to the company's financial strength.

Price said Westinghouse will end the year with the greatest backlog in its peacetime history—more than $573 million worth of orders.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce released a critical analysis of the report prepared for the CIO last week by Robert Nathan, former government economist. The report said industry in general could raise wages 25 per cent without price increases.

"The fallacy of this argument, as now offered by CIO leadership," the chamber president, William K. Jackson, "was clearly established last winter when it came from government sources. The nation then was told that wages could be raised by 24 per cent without any price increases. The people of the country now know that this was not true."

REALTOR FLAYS HOUSING PLAN

'Just Watered-Down Version of Wyatt's Ideas,' Says Association Spokesman.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A spokesman for American realtors declared today that President Truman's new housing program is "utterly ineffectual."

The statement was made by Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate boards. He charged that the new program is simply a "watered-down version of Wilson Wyatt's ideas" Wyatt recently resigned as housing expediter.

Nelson's critical remarks were spoken as the nation's new housing bosses, Frank Creedon, successor to Wyatt as expediter, and administrator Raymond Foley, were called before a senate subcommittee to explain how they plan to step up home building under the latest policy.

Creedon, Foley and Philip Fleming, chief of the office of temporary controls, were brought before the housing subcommittee on the senate small business committee.

Their testimony follows that of United Auto Workers Vice President R. J. Thomas, speaking from the CIO; Richard J. Gray of the AFL's national building trades council and John H. Snyder, mayor of York, Pa.

"The new program diesn't hit any really important points," Nelson asserted. "It removes ceilings on the sale of new homes and ends the priority system. But those steps in the right direction are counteracted by retention of rent controls and continued allocation of raw materials."

Nelson pointed out that only five percent of recently built homes have been rental units. He stated:

"You can't get rental housing under rules."

The real estate spokesman said that such features of the new program as yield insurance to encourage rental building, premium payment plans and guaranteed markets on industrialized housing all were lifted directly from Wyatt's proposals into the new program.

FOOT AMPUTATED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

GALION—John Scrand, 51, of 304 Pierce street, Galion, lost his left foot and received a fractured left thigh when he was run over by a New York Central freight train early today in the freight yards here.

Scrand was working under a coal dock clearing the tracks at the time of the accident.

COUNCIL MOVES SLOWLY IN TRY FOR RATE CUT

Authorizes Service-Safety Director to Advertise For New Contract.

City council took the first steps last night to procure a new electric power contract for Mansfield.

However, action to get a reduction in the price the city pays for that power developed slowly.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow was authorized to advertise for a new contract. The present one with the Ohio Public Service company expires in March of next year.

Council also authorized Enlow to procure the contract before the expiration of the present one, if desirable. The contract could be for 10 years or for a shorter or longer period, council agreed.

* * *

No Official Action.

But council took no official action designed to pave the way for a cut in the rate the city now pays for power.

Enlow said, however, that he will confer with council's utilities committee to map plans for a negotiation meeting with OPS. He has said the city would attempt to procure a better power rate.

Only member of council's three-man utilities committee attending last night's meeting was Councilman Nelson Swihart. He said that a meeting of that committee has not been called. Councilman James R. Anderson is its chairman.

* * *

Used for Pumps.

Under its present contract with the OPS, Mansfield pays between $40,000 and $50,000 a year for power. Such power is used mainly to operate water pumps. This year's bill will be some $5,000 higher than last year's, it has been estimated.

To effect a reduction in its power bill the city would have to seek, in part, a cut in the $1.34 charge now levied per horsepower of measured monthly demand.

A cut would also have to be made in the nine-mill charge per kilowatt hour. Higher coal prices have brought a revision of this charge, boosting it to nine and six-tenths mills, Water Works Supt. C. C. Kalbfleisch said.

SPURT FORECAST IN $60,000 DRIVE

Third day's report on the $60,000 Friendly House campaign showed $3,000 contributed to date and campaign officials predicting a spurt in donations by the end of the week

The drive, to build a new settlement house on North Mulberry street, opened Monday. It will close Jan. 15.

Paul Endriss, general campaign chairman, said today that in many cases, industrial "inside" drives were not begun until yesterday, and that reports from these sources and business and professional groups are expected to be turned in by workers either Friday or Saturday.

If the $60,000, representing the agency's share of building costs, is raised, the additional 70 per cent of the total will be donated by Mansfield manufacturers through the Richland Foundation.

SECRET'S OUT

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— The secret was out today that Betty Grable is expecting a second child. Betty herself broke the news, although she said she had wanted to keep it secret until she finished her current picture, "Mother Wore Tights."

LEARNS ABOUT HER NEW HOME—Mrs. Metta Herbert Stevers (right), daughter of Gov.-elect Thomas J. Herbert, is learning in advance about the executive mansion in Columbus over which she will preside after her father is inaugurated early next year. She's shown here with Mrs. Frank J. Lausche, wife of Ohio's present governor, while on an inspection tour yesterday of the mansion into which she said the Herberts plan to move about Jan. 3.—(AP Photo)

COURT CALLS KALIS REPORT 'INADEQUATE'

Judge Asks More Data on Mental Condition of Accused Man.

Dissatisfied with a report from the Lima state hospital on the mental condition of Michael Kalis, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch said today he is requesting a supplemental report on the man's sanity.

Kalis, 52-year-old steelworker, is accused of two counts of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Helen, and son, John, Oct. 17, at their home, 388 Springmill street.

Kalis was indicted early in November and was immediately committed to the Lima hospital for a mental examination.

Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the hospital reported to the judge last week, when Kalis was returned to the county jail, that there was "positive evidence of pre-existing mental aberration" but that Kalis' mind is "fairly clear at this time and we are not able to bring out any delusions."

"The report is not clear enough for this court. I want a clear legal definition as to whether Kalis is sane and able to defend himself against these charges," Judge Kalbfleisch said.

Because of the need for this supplemental report from the Lima hospital and other legalities involved in a trial of first degree murder Kalis will probably not be tried until the latter part of January, it was said.

A special venire of 50 to 75 jurymen must be called and each of the jurymen must be notified at least 15 days in advance of the trial, it was said.

Meanwhile, Kalis remains in the county jail with a bullet lodged in his head. The bullet wound, reportedly self-inflicted, has deprived him of nearly 100 per cent of his vision, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, said

Stassen Moves First In Presidential Fight

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen ripped the lid off the 1948 Republican presidential nomination battle today by declaring his candidacy on an immediate platform of changing the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

The 39-year-old three-time governor of Minnesota and former navy captain added that he was out to steer the GOP along a "truly liberal path."

One of his first efforts, Stassen told a news conference yesterday, would be directed toward amending the Wagner Act to prescribe a "set of unfair practices" for labor such as "mass picketing." Practices now spelled out as unfair in the law apply only to management.

HAROLD E. STASSEN

Stassen said he wanted to "balance up this collective bargaining."

His announcement, unexpected only because of its timing so long before the 1948 nominating convention, was made after Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Taft of Ohio had told reporters they were not candidates. Each, however, left the way open for any campaigns in their behalf.

Stassen, as the first to throw his hat into the ring, served notice on the party's old guard that it could look for a battle somewhat similar to that waged in 1940 by the late Wendell L. Willkie. Many Willkie supporters now are in the Stassen camp.

Besides Taft and Vandenberg, others who have been mentioned as contenders for the nomination include Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1944 standard bearer; Senator-elect John W. Bricker of Ohio; Govs. Earl Warren of California and Edward Martin of Pennsylvania; Senator-elect Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Veterans Ask More Care In Use of Term

NEW YORK—(INS)—Veterans of World War II are out to prevent the indiscriminate use of the term "veterans" by newspapers and radio stations in referring to ex-servicemen and women in stories of crimes.

Their objection to this practice is contained in a resolution passed recently by the conference of Director of Veterans' Affairs in Washington, D. C.

The resolution states:

"Whereas, the indiscriminate use of the word designating 'veterans' in newspaper and radio accounts of crime reflects unfairly on millions of former servicemen and women who have returned to the civilian status;

"Now, therefore, let it be resolved that this conference of state directors of veterans' affairs go on record in asking the editors of American newspapers and radio stations that they comply with the highest tradition of American newspapers and refrain from using the word 'veterans' in crime stories where it has no revelancy."

MERCURY DIPS TO 15 ABOVE

Mansfielders donned mufflers, gloves and heavy overcoats today as Old Man Winter gave the city its second taste of near zero weather this season.

Although the mercury dropped to as low as 10 degrees in some parts of the state, city thermometers hovered around 15 this morning. A lower mark is expected tonight.

However, weather forecasters predicted today the cold snap would begin moderating by tomorrow afternoon with sunny skies doing the trick.

The cold wave, which sent temperatures tumbling below zero in other parts of the midwest, is expected to push into New England and the Mid-Atlantic states by nightfall.

12 Others Critically Injured

NEWBERRY, S. C.—(AP) Nine pupils and the driver of a school bus were killed today when the bus and a southbound Southern railway passenger train collided at a grade crossing on the outskirts of Silverstreet, a village seven miles southwest of Newberry.

Twelve other school children were injured. They were brought to Newberry County hospital for treatment. Attendants said all were in critical condition.

Mrs. H. N. Wallace of the McSwain funeral home, where five of the dead were brought, said ambulance drivers told her the train struck the bus on the side and dragged it for half a mile down the tracks.

Some bodies were carried along on the cowcatcher of the engine while others were scattered beside the track, according to the information.

Mrs. Wallace said the crash occurred on a straight stretch of road. It was theorized, she added, that the bus driver was not expecting the train because it was reported running late.

Richard Sanders, the driver, was killed.

Sweet Idea For Charity Turns Sour

TOLEDO —(INS)— A Toledo judge's unique idea to raise $3,000 for Christmas charities and a few laughs backfired today with resounding jolts felt in leading homes all over the city.

The idea grew out of an annual practice of the Toledo municipal court in turning over to the Old Newsboys Fellowship Fund all traffic fines during one day of the Yuletide season.

Judge Stanley Grzezinski thought the fund could be increased by $3,000 with a little amusement included.

He decided to summon into court 300 known philanthropists on "trumped up" charges.

* * *

THE JUDGE DICTATED HIS letter to a stenographer, who mimeographed it and mailed copies to the 300 men listed by the jurist.

The letter ordered the men to appear in court today to pay for what Judge Grzezinski jokingly called, "the social consequence of your negligence."

When the men appeared in court, the judge intended to read a funny charge and fine each "defendant" $10 for the newsboys' fund.

However, the trouble started when some of his letters were opened by the addressee's wives—who knew nothing of the plan.

Some did not wait to find out anything about it.

About a dozen women called the judge immediately for an explanation of the so-called "negligence." At least four refused to believe him, he said, and informed him they would turn the matter over to a lawyer.

* * *

FIVE OF THE WOMEN HURried to priests, one to a rabbi and two to ministers, asking the clergy to intercede for their "erring" spouses.

The clergymen did so, either in person or by telephone—and all were satisfied with his explanation

Some of the men did not wait to learn the details, either. About 25 immediately turned the matter over to lawyers to handle for them.

Judge Grzezinski commented, with a sigh.

SENATORS SAY BILBO AIDE MUST TESTIFY

Ex-Secretary of Mississippi Solon Iaims He's Ready to Tell Whole Story.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate war investigators today overruled a lawyer's contention that Edward P. Terry, former secretary to Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.), should not be required to testify.

An effort to bar Terry from testifying about his "confidential relationship" with his former employer, Bilbo, was made by Paul Dillon, St. Louis lawyer who appeared as Terry's counsel at the hearing.

Dillon argued that to permit a senator's secretary to disclose confidential matters learned in connection with his professional duties would "destroy the proper carrying on of the senate's business."

Chairman Mead (D-NY), ruling otherwise, pointed out that a senate investigating committee is not a court of law and not bound by the same rules of procedure.

* * *

Waive Objection.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) asked Bilbo's attorney, Forrest Jackson, if the senator had any objections to Terry testifying.

"No," Jackson said, "we do not. Senator Bilbo waives any privilege. As far as Senator Bilbo is concerned, Mr. Terry may testify fully concerning any matter whatsoever."

Terry, nervously smoking cigarets and speaking to a few friends, was sworn shortly before 10 o'clock.

Terry previously had written the investigating committee a letter asking to be excused from testifying altogether on the ground that his life had been threatened.

* * *

Tells of Warning.

He said he had been told by an anonymous phone-caller that the lives of his wife and daughter also were in jeopardy if he testified against his former boss.

The two main characters in the tangled financial and political affairs of Bilbo got top billing today.

The war investigating subcommittee had called Terry, Bilbo's former secretary, and then "the man" himself.

As he wailed to testify, the 69 year old veteran of Mississippi politics voiced confidence that all his relations with war contractors and everyone else will be clarified.

"Everything they have produced has come from Ed Terry or Ross Collins," Bilbo told a reporter. Collins, a former member of the house from Mississippi, is a long-time Bilbo foe.

Terry was said by one witness yesterday to have been custodian of a $15,000 fund intended, but never used, to try to unseat Bilbo. This was at a time before the senator fired Terry as his secretary last Jan. 1.

Terry, for whom the FBI and other federal agencies hunted last week, came here today from a hospital at Qutman, Miss.

"I am prepared to testify," he said at Meridian, Miss., as he left for Washington. "I'll review the entire seven years of my efforts in behalf of the people of Mississippi, regardless of political affiliation, where in the end, I have destroyed my health and Bilbo has greatly increased his financial resources through my efforts."

Smiles of Sunshine School Children Reward Rotarians For Their Annual Holiday Party for Handicapped Kiddies

By AL PREYER

Smiles as bright as the sun itself lighted the faces of eight Sunshine school pupils yesterday as they clasped tightly the presents Santa Claus brought to them at a party held especially in their honor at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

And the warmth of those smiles was felt in the hearts of the Mansfield Rotarians and "Rotaryanns" who each year arrange for the party and for the special appearance of Santa whose sack bulged with presents for the children fighting gamely to overcome polio.

Santa, whose dramatic appearance climaxed the program, really missed a treat. He didn't get to see the fine program that the children themselves staged for the more than 100 persons at the party.

A deep, awe-inspiring silence hung over the festivities as these children, winning the fight to regain the use of their limbs, sang, laughed, and danced in a Christmas playlet about "Orphan Joe."

PARTICIPATING IN THE program were Edwin Tinkey, who told a Christmas story, Judith Ross, who played the piano and read the narrative for the playlet, and Dicky Robertson, Jimmie Clelan, Raymond Girton, Shirley Teschler, Dollie Hawk, Leo Delaney, and Willia Montan.

After the ringing applause which followed the conclusion of the children's program had died down, the moment all had been waiting for came. Santa entered with pack bulging. By the time he had distributed his gifts some of the children were literally hidden behind the stack of presents piled on their laps.

As Santa took his leave, and the party ended, it would have been difficult to decide who had had the most fun—the Rotary club which staged the party for the children, or the children who attended.

* * *

W. C. MEAD ACTED AS PROgram chairman, introducing the many guests and interested persons who contributed to the success of the party. Judge Stuart H. Cramer, Ralph Carroll and Mrs. Marjorie Comer were present from probate court. Others introduced were Mrs. Harry V. Downs, executive secretary of the Child Welfare board; Philip Wolfe, clerk of the county commissioners, Miss Janet Baughman, music supervisor of Mansfield schools; Mrs. Ward Ingraham, physiotherapist; W. W. Blauser, principal of the West Fifth Street school, and Miss Gladys Fox, Sunshine school instructor, who had charge of the children's program.

Rotarians, Rotaryanns and others whose assistance was acknowledged by Mead were Mrs. Vernon Lawrence, Mrs. R. D. Iden, Mrs. H. W. Arlin and Mrs. W. C. Mead, who assisted with the decorations, and R. D. Iden, Fred Frankeberger, Floyd Dent, Edward Sutter, Eugene Smart and W. L. Miller.

J. Merton Holcombe directed the Mansfield Senior high school orchestra in Christmas selections during the luncheon.

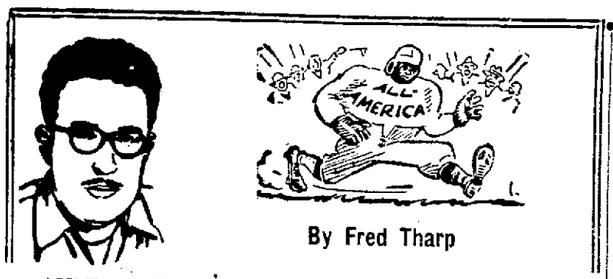
TYGERS CRIPPLED FOR CAGE CARNIVAL



By Fred Tharp

ANNUALLY MILLIONS of words, praising endeavors of athletically minded youths and men, flow from typewriters of sports scriveners the world over. . . . And it is a lead pipe cinch that All-America football team selecting occupies an over abundance of space. . . . In these pages alone this year have appeared six honor teams. . . . Proponents of a team picked by the American Football Coaches association say that they were not swayed by publicity accounts. They, as football specialists, relied wholly on their own judgment. . . . Conversely football writers, and many of them are outstanding authorities, see the games from press boxes where visibility is much better than from the benches. Their selections, too, are commendable. . . . So to end all arguments (for this season, at least), we would like to present the News-Journal consensus All-America for 1946. . . . The composite team was tabulated from honor teams reaching this desk, namely: Associated Press, International News Service, United Press, Central Press, Grantland Rice (Collier's 57th team), American Coaches (Saturday Evening Post) and Football Writers association (Look).

"THE MONSTER AND HIS PLAYMATE"
Glenn 'Playmate' Davis. Felix 'Monster' Blanchard.

SUMMING UP the season just past, as in the two preceding campaigns, the names of Felix "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn "Junior" Davis are on a pinnacle that no other college player can touch . . . They are the first teammates ever to achieve All America rating for three consecutive years . . .

Starting with Walt Camp's first selection in 1889, only 17 men have made the "all" college team three consecutive years . . . The last was Red Grange, Illinois halfback of 1923, 1924 and 1925.

The irrestistible pair of Black Knights have been referred to as "The monster and his playmate" and "Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside" . . . Rarely have superlatives been showering so freely on two backs . . . Davis has been called the great running back of all time and that takes in a lot of territory with names such as Tom Harmon, George McAfee, Red Grange, Chris Cagle and George Gipp still being echoed . . . Bill Corum says of Doc Blanchard, "He can back up a line to a queen's taste and can charge harder and develop more speed, with more weight, than any college player in the country and most pros. Blanchard hits hard walking, and he wasn't doing much more than that when he wrecked a couple of lines early in the season after recovering from injuries that would have finished most men."

* * * * *

CONSENSUS FIRST TEAM: Burr Baldwin, UCLA, and Henry Foldberg, Army, ends; George Connor, Notre Dame, and Warren Amling, Ohio State, tackles; Alex Agase, Illinois, and Weldon Humble, Rice, guards; Paul Duke, Georgia Tech, center; Davis, Blanchard, Charles Trippi, Georgia, and Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame, backs. . . . The leather-lugging quartet and Baldwin were the only unanimous choices.

Second team: Hubert Bechtol, Texas, and George Poole, Army, ends; Dick Huffman, Tennessee, and George Savitsky, Penn, tackles; John Mastrangelo, Notre Dame, and Frank Barzilaukas, Yale, guards; George Strohmeyer, Notre Dame, center; Arnold Tucker, Army; Herman Wedemyer, St. Mary's; Bobby Layne, Texas, and Harry Gilmer, Alabama, backs.

Third team: Elmer Madar, Michigan, and Wallace Jones, Kentucky, ends; John Ferraro, Southern California, and Bob Davis, Georgia Tech, tackles; Dick Barwegen, Purdue, and William Milner, Duke, guards; Charles Bednarik, Penn, center; Ernie Case, UCLA; Charlie Justice, North Carolina; Tony Minisi, Penn, and Bob Chappuis, Michigan, backs.

Other prominent mention went to: Bernie Gallagher, Penn, tackle; Plato Andros, Oklahoma, and Joe Steffy, Army, guards, and Lloyd Merriman, Stanford, back.

NICK GAGICH, MAJORS MAY MISS CONTESTS

Mansfield Plays Libbey; Bexley Meets Akron North.

With the first annual Tyger cage carnival only two days away, the Mansfield Senior high basketballers are in a crippled condition for the two-day court festival.

Coach Vern Hoffman's quintet meets Toledo Libbey in Friday's finale. Columbus Bexley and Akron North collide in the opener at 7:30.

There will be no advance sale of tickets and the ducat gate at Senior high opens at 6:15. Adult tickets are listed at one dollar for the two games while the student price is 50 cents. Student activity books are good for one night of play.

Losers of Friday's games meet in the opener Saturday at 7:30 with the winners playing the feature attraction.

Hoffman will be without the services of Nick Gagich and possibly Ralph Majors for the carnival. Gagich is taking shots for a "boil" infection and is expected to be out for two weeks while Majors twisted his ankle in practice. The latter performer is taking daily treatments and may be available for part-time duty.

Jerry Robfogel, senior letterman, dropped off the squad to take a job after school. Shelly Swank and Dick Flockencier have been working at forward with Phil Pittinger back in at guard. Hoffman has moved sophs Bernie Weaver and Norbert Shibinsky to the varsity squad for the carnival.

Three lettermen will be in the Libbey lineup which opposes Mansfield. The Cowboys have defeated an alumni quintet, 53 to 35, and Sylvania, 42 to 33. Libbey was second in the Toledo city league last year. Jim Fenner, six-foot, one-inch forward, is the leading scorer.

Officials are Basil Hamblin, Ohio State, and Wallace Glenwright, Mt. Union.

F-H BATTLER—Kenny Berry, lightweight (above), meets Ray Miller, Akron, is the main event of the Christmas fight show at Senior high school auditorium tomorrow night.

FIVE MORE F-H BOXERS SIGNED

Five more Friendly House boxers were signed yesterday for the Christmas amateur fistic show tomorrow at 8:15 in the Senior high school auditorium.

Four of the leatherswingers will go in exhibition bouts that open the program while the fifth —Rusty Baker, 127—replaces Eddie Knapp in one of the semi-final goes. Knapp has a jammed thumb and can't fight.

Matchmaker Mike Wentz now has 11 bouts signed for the second Friendly House-40 et 8 card. The first pair of encounters will be exhibitions between F-H youngsters. Bantamweights Leon Butts and Bill Eberhardt go in the opener while Bill Zgela and John West fight in the second bout. They are middleweights.

The four-round grudge battle between Roland Blake, Mt. Vernon, and Jack Draper, Marion, has been postponed. Blake, whose parents live in Chicago, was called home because of illness in the family. Lou Berry, Akron, will replace Blake. The Rubber City belter won a kayo in Cleveland last week.

Draper is Marion Golden Gloves champion.

Kenny Berry, Mansfield, meets Ray Miller, Akron lightweight, in the main event. The F-H battler has won three of four simon pure goes and wound up heavy training in the F-H gym last night.

Officials for the show are: judges, Floyd Dent, Paul Eliot, George Allerding; timekeeper, Sam Fox; referee, Paul Carbetta and announcer, James Brownscombe.

Reserved tickets may be purchased at the Friendly House, City News, Saprano Cigar store, Fox Jewelry store, Hunt's News, Sandy Maxwell's, Ritz Nite club, Terminal Inn and East Side Nite club.

General admission ducats will go on sale at the gate tomorrow.

Villanova has only one senior in the backfield.

Madison Rams Vanquish Lexington In Overtime

LEXINGTON—Mansfield Madison racked up its third straight victory here last night but was forced to go into overtime to vanquish the Class B Lexington Minutemen, 39 to 37.

Battling uphill most of the way, Lexington overcame a four-point lead in the final minute to send the contest into an extra period. Foul connections by Gerald Bigler and Don Worley, and a basket by Fred Gore tied the count, 35-35.

Eldon Pritchard, individual scoring star with 11, notched a couple in overtime to win the contest. He picked up one under the hoop but Bigler immediately knotted the score. However, Pritchard connected on a game-winning pivot shot.

Madison's tight zone defense proved troublesome to John Rees' basketeers and until the final minute only Rollin Ford could hit the mesh with any frequency. The rugged junior collected 15 points.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's team moved into the van 10 to 4 at the quarter and 20 to 10 at half-time. The Minutemen waxed hot in the third heat and deadlocked the score, 26-26, when Dave Dickson caged a couple of quick baskets at the whistle.

Ford put Lexington ahead for the first time at the outset of the final heat, 28-26. The Rams came back to go in front, 35-31.

Ray Cline, Lexington six-foot, two-inch, was unable to play. The Minutemen play Butler here in a league game Friday night while Madison is idle until it plays at Willard, Jan. 3.

Keglers Bowl High Scores at Colony

Keglers in the Commercial B and Club leagues had a field day at the Colony bowling alleys.

Bill Shoup, Cy's Sandwich Shop, bowled ten strikes in his middle game and on the 11th ball grazed the headpin and only knocked six pins down. He bowled a spare on the next ball and settled for a 286. His three game score was, 163-286-191—640.

Joe DeYarmon, Independent Towel, bowled a 200-205-215—640, in the C league and Worthley, University club, averaged 228 with a three game score of 216-213-247—676.

Dale Cleckner, Lions, bowled a 267 for his high game. Both Cleckner and Worthley are in the Club loop.

OPS-Brodie Tilt Headlines Y Loop

Ohio Public Service-Brodie Cigar store cage contest headlines play in the YMCA Commercial B league tonight.

The quintets are tied with the Shelby Merchants for first place with two victories each.

In the first game, Mansfield Plating collides with Dominion Electric at 7. Phalanx fraternity meets Westinghouse in the second tilt followed by the OPS-Brodie classic.

In the last basketball game, the high scoring Shelby Merchants play Mansfield Tire.

Gotta Do Duty, Deer or No Deer

BRIDGETON, N. J.—(INS)—Opening of the deer season was eliminated today as an excuse for dodging jury duty.

Supreme Court Justice Howard B. Eastwood laid down the decree when four potential jurors, one of them clad in full forest attire, begged to be excused.

"The court is aware of your great anticipation," said Justice Eastwood, "but it cannot offset the serious importance of grand jury duty."

TRY FOR SHARE OF LOP LEAD

Richland Beverage and Komito's Clothers will be trying to regain a share of the first division lead in the City League tonight at Senior high.

Smokehouse, by virtue of its third straight victory Monday, leads the division. Komito's plays American Legion Post 72 in the open at 7 p. m. and Beverage meets Ohio Sports Center in the finale. Komito's and Beverage have won two in a row.

Urschel Insurance and Barnes Manufacturing play the second game at 8 p. m. A victory will give the Insurancemen a tie with Mansfield Tire and Yunckers for the second division lead.

Norwalk Defeats Whippets, 44-20

SHELBY—Led by Center Walter Meagrew, who scored 13 points to take individual scoring honors, the Norwalk Raiders routed the Shelby Whippets, 44 to 20, here last night in a cage tilt that did not count toward the official Northern Ohio league standings.

It was the fourth consecutive win for the undefeated Norwalk high school quintet coached by Grant Walls, and the third loss in five games for Coach Charles Williams' Whippets.

Gets Neil Trophy

NEW YORK—(AP)—Tony Zale, middleweight champion, today joined a selectlist of boxing greats which includes Jack Dempsey, Benny Leonard and Joe Louis by being awarded the Edward J. Neil Memorial trophy as the man who did the most for the fight game in 194[illegible]

Graham, Dobbs Deadlock for Passing Lead

NEW YORK—(INS)—The All-America conference passing championship war waged all season by Otto Graham, of Cleveland's western division champions, and Glenn Dobbs, of Brooklyn, wound up in a deadlock.

Official figures released today reveal that Graham was first in efficiency with 54.6 per cent completions and 2.9 per cent interceptions for a net of 51.7.

Dobbs led in completions with 135 and in yards with 1,886, but was fifth in efficiency.

Graham led in touchdown tosses with 17, followed by Bob Hoernschemeyer, of Chicago, 14, and Dobbs and Frankie Albert, of San Francisco, tied with 13 each.

Dobbs established himself as close to the best all around back in the conference. He previously had clinched total offense and punting honors.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Three ailing right halfbacks are giving Coach Paul Brown concern in preparation for Sunday's battle between his Browns and the New York Yankees for the All-America conference championship.

The three, still troubled with old injuries, are Don Greenwood, Ray Terrell and Al Akins.

"All of them are in shape part of the game," said Brown, "but their condition is such that they might go out on any play. Then again any of them might last the entire game."

The Browns, who beat the Yankees twice this year, were ordered through another double-session drill today.

Appleseed Plays Host to Crestline

Johnny Appleseed junior high entertains the Crestline junior high cagers tomorrow afternoon at 4.

Coach Norm Henline's quintet will be seeking their third victory of the 1946-47 basketball schedule.

Henline's probable starting lineup follows: Howard Tipper and Jim Rubino, forwards; Jim Anderson, center; and Charles Marchant and Jack Bargahiser, guards.

TALKS ON ENGINEERING

"Military Engineering," will be the subject of a talk by Col. Stewart Weaver, Engineering Corps, U. S. Army, speaking before the Mansfield Kiwanis club at its luncheon meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel Thursday at 11:45 a. m. William L. Althouse is program chairman.

1—Death Notices

GAGES

Paul, 70, died Tuesday at Mansfield General hospital. The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral Home where services will be held Friday at 1:00 p. m. in charge of the Apostolic Christian church. Burial will be in Memorial Park. (Wappner Funeral Directors.)

HENRY

Levi J., 51, Adario, husband of Lucille father of Mrs. Max Sayre, Mrs Charles House, Mary, Carol, and Phyllis, Robert and John, and brother of Mrs. Rolland Williams and Clayton W. Henry, passed away at the Mansfield Sanitarium hospital Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be conducted at the Ontario Community church Friday at 2:30 by Rev. R. W. McNary. Interment in Ontario cemetery. Friends may call at the Finefrock Funeral Home. (Finefrock's.)

PALMER

Cheryl D., 28 West Prospect, infant daughter of Richard and Mildred (Durbin) Palmer, sister of Carol and Jack Lee, died at General hospital this morning. Now at the Jones Memorial where friends may call and where services will be held Thursday at 3 p. m., conducted by Rev. B. F. Hageibarger. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. (John S. Jones Co.)

REYNOLDS

C. Brainard, 74, Chicago, Ill., father of Mrs. Rhea Thorp, passed away at his home Monday morning. Funeral services were conducted from the Finefrock Funeral Home this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. David N. Roller. Interment in Mansfield cemetery. (Finefrock's.)

2—Card of Thanks

I WISH to thank my friends and neighbors who sent me many cards, flowers and fruits, and those who visited me at the Sanitarium during my illness there. Virgil B. Kent, Rt. 2, city.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORIUM—In loving remembrance of my dear son and brother, Ernest C Gruver, who lost his life on Leyte Island Dec. 17, 1944. Greatly missed by his father H. J. Gruver, Brother and Sister.

IN MEMORIAM—In memory of our dear husband, father, son and brother, Lt. Thomas N. Gerhart, killed Dec. 18, 1944, in an airplane crash at Marana, Arizona.
He is not dead—he is just away
Up in the sky, we seem to see
Your plane still flying, fleet and strong.
And though that might seem fantasy,
Our hearts assure us we're not wrong.
There's a face that is haunting as ever.
There's a smile we'll remember forever
Though we try to forget every tear
There's sad but sweet remembrance
There's a memory fond and true
There's a token of affection dear
And a heartache still for you.
Mrs. Thomas Gerhart, sons,
Thomas Jr. and Michael Eugene,
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gerhart,
Miss Carroll Betty Gerhart,
Mrs. Arthur Zerby,
Richard Gerhart,
Edward Gerhart.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

THE DISTRESS SIGNAL

Reddy Fox was lying down as flat as he could get behind some small trees bent over by the weight of snow and ice. He was sure he could not be seen by Farmer Brown's boy while he himself could watch the latter. That was Reddy's mistake. Even the smartest folks do make mistakes and Reddy was making one this time. There was something that he didn't know, perhaps couldn't know. It was that his handsome red coat, the most showy coat in all the Green Forest or on all the Green Meadows was more showy than ever against the white snow. Had there been no snow he would have been hidden from Farmer Brown's boy. As it was the latter could see a bit of red and that was enough for him to know exactly where Reddy was.

"The rascal hasn't gone away, but probably he thinks I think he has, and that is what he wants me to think. He is watching me, waiting for me to leave. Then he will come back. I wonder what it is that interests him so much. When I first saw him he was listening. He heard something, and unless I am mistaken I thought the sound came from down in the snow. I'll sit down and do a little listening myself. The scamp wouldn't waste time lurking around for nothing, not when he is as hungry as I know he must be this weather," thought Farmer Brown's boy.

Quietly he went forward to where he had first seen Reddy apparently listening to something. He brushed away the snow from the top of an old stump at the edge of a little opening among the trees. On this he sat down. He could still see the spot of red so he knew that Reddy Fox was still waiting and watching.

From far away came a harsh voice of Blacky the Crow. Somehow that was a sound good to hear. Yes, sir, it was a sound good to hear. He never heard that voice on a cold winter day without feeling better for hearing it. Harsh as it was it was a cheerful sound. In it was courage and independence and self-reliance and confidence. It required all of these to be cheerful at such a time as this with food locked away by Jack Frost.

From not quite that distance came the almost equally harsh voice of Sammy Jay. That also was a cheerful sound. Sammy was in good spirits. There was no doubt about that. Farmer Brown's boy grinned.

"Sammy is a handsome rascal and that blue and white coat of his is good to see this time of year," thought he. "He is a mischievous scamp at times, but without him the Green Forest and the Old Orchard wouldn't be the same. No, sir, they wouldn't be the same. Something beautiful and vital and inspiring would be lacking. I don't worry about him no matter what the weather may be. He is smart enough to look out for himself. The rascal probably has eaten his fill at my feeding stations and has carried away a lot of seeds beside already today. Sammy knows a good thing when he sees it and how to make the most of it."

Then from near at hand Chatterer the Red Squirrel began to chatter and somehow that was a cheerful sound. "For a wonder he isn't scolding. Probably he does not see anybody to scold about. Trust him to have plenty of nuts and acorns and seeds where he can get them no matter what the weather," said Farmer Brown's boy, but he said it under his breath as they say, talking to himself.

Chatterer became silent. The silence was complete, a stillness that could be felt. It was broken by a sound so faint that ears less keen than those of Farmer Brown's boy would not have heard it at all. It ceased. He leaned forward listening intently. He began to think that perhaps he had been mistaken. But no, there it was again, a faint tapping. Instantly he recognized it for what it was, a distress signal.

"A Grouse trapped under the ice!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy as he got to his feet and listened intently. He was trying to decide exactly where that signal was coming from. He knew now why Reddy Fox was still waiting and watching.

The next story: "The Feathered Bombs."

CROP OUTPUT IN '46 TOPS ALL RECORDS

U. S. Farmers Exceed Even High Mark Set in 1942.

WASHINGTON — American farmers produced their biggest crop in history this year, topping even the previous record output in 1942, according to records of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In its final 1946 report, the department said record yields of corn and wheat, coupled with record or near-record harvests of many other crops, resulted in the largest production in history.

The volume of crop production was 26 per cent above the 1923-32 average, two per cent above the previous record production in 1942 and seven per cent above last year.

Quality Good.

"Not only the quantity but also the quality of the crops is outstanding," the department said.

The corn crop totaled 2,287,927,000 bushels, compared with 2,880,933,000 bushels last year and a previous record of 3,228,000,000 bushels in 1944.

Wheat production totaled 1,155,715,000 bushels. This compares with 1,108,224,000 bushels last year, the previous record.

Average corn production from 1935 to 1944 was 2,608,499,000 bushels. The average wheat yield for the same period was only 834,692,000 bushels.

The 1946 yield of other major crops, in bushels, compared with last year's revised production:

Oats 1,509,867,000, 1,535,676,000; barley 263,350,000, 266,833,000; rye 18,685,000, 23,952,000; flax 22,962,000, 34,557,000; rice 71,520,000, 68,150,000; soybeans 196,725,000, 192,076,000; potatoes 474,609,000, 418,020,000; sweet potatoes 66,807,000, 64,665,000.

Fruit Crop Heavy.

The 1946 fruit crop also was of record proportions. Total yield of various fruits compared with last year:

Commercial apples 121,520,000 bushels, 68,042,000 bushels; peaches 86,448,000 bushels, 81,564,000 bushels; pears 34,488,000 bushels, 34,011,000 bushels; grapes 2,851,000 tons, 2,792,000 tons; cherries 215,000 tons, 148,000 tons; prunes 214,000 tons, 234,000 tons.

The yield of citrus fruits also continued a steady increase. The orange crop totaled 125,430,000 boxes, compared with 104,520,000 last year. The grapefruit crop was 67,320,000 boxes against 63,550,000 a year ago.

Among the non-food farm crops, tobacco production showed one of the largest increases. It jumped from 1,993,837,000 pounds last year to 2,235,328,000 pounds in 1946. Cotton lint production totaled only 8,462,000 bales, however, compared with 9,015,000 bales in 1945. Cottonseed production this year was 3,452,000 tons against 3,664,000 tons last year.

The final production of corn in bushels by principal producing states included Ohio 178,409,000 and Kentucky 81,979,000.

METEORS FAIL TO APPEAR AS ROCKET SOARS

Army Claims New Altitude Record of 111 Miles.

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M.—(INS)—Firing of man-made meteors from the warhead of a V-2 rocket remained an open question today, but army officials claimed a new altitude record of 111 miles and a maximum speed mark of more than 3,600 miles per hour for the rocket's first night flight.

Scientists, who prepared the six artificial meteors in an attempt to explore celestial space, announced that evidence was conclusive that a mechanical defect prevented ejection, and the meteorites were not visible.

Commanding Officer Lt. Col Harold Turner, who reported last night's firing of the 17th German projectile broke an altitude and speed record posted July 30, said the V-2 landed 27 miles northeast of the launching point.

Details Not Told.

Colonel Turner refused to go into detail on the meteorites, saying that the rocket's scientific instruments worked excellently.

Dr. J. A. Vanallen of the Applied Physics laboratory, Johns Hopkins university, said he was pleased with the flight but had no immediate answer on why the meteors were not seen.

Recovery and study of the specially-instrumented warhead in several days is expected to provide the answer. Dr. Vanallen, in charge of the explosive device, thought outlying observatories might have had better visibility than that at the launching site.

The rocket was originally scheduled to be launched at 12 p. m. (EST). However, a short wave radio broadcast, believed to be from Mexico, irterferred with operation of launching equipment and the firing was delayed 14 minutes.

BEAUTY OPERATOR DRAWS $15 FINE

Hazel Isaac, 73½ North Main street, charged with violation of the state cosmetology code, was fined $15 and costs today in municipal court.

She pleaded guilty to a charge of having employed a beautician who was not licensed by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology.

Clifford M. Zehner, 34 Mansfield avenue, accused of stealing a $22 clock from William Zerby, pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge and was given a 10-day county jail sentence.

Andrew B. Meldrum jr., of Cleveland, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crossing a yellow line.

RETURNS TO JOB

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

I once came home from Nassau aboard a vessel that was completing one of those 14-day, all-expenses-paid cruises of the West Indies. The night before we docked in New York was a "gala" —toy balloons, noise-makers, confetti—and, as a special treat, caviar added to the menu.

At the next table sat a very fat, pleasant-faced lady who obviously had never eaten caviar before. She planked a heaping tablespoon on her plate and added an equally large portion of grated onions when another waiter stopped by her. She mixed the caviar and onions very carefully, and spread them on a piece of black bread.

All of us waited impatiently for her verdict. She chewed in silence for a moment, and then shook her head knowingly. "So dot's caviar," she declared. "It tastes just like onions to me!"

Future Cost Trends Puzzle Motor Makers

LEADING FIRMS POSTPONE NEW CHEAP MODELS

ndustry Foresees Jump in Car Prices If Wages Go Higher.

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT —(AP)—Production costs and retail prices are giving the motorcar manufacturers increasing concern as they try to chart their programs for the year ahead.

Increased material and labor costs are a certainty; whether retail prices can be pegged at their present high levels will depend upon the industry's ability to find other manufacturing economies.

Currently these are not in sight and leading industry heads have asserted bluntly that if there is an advance in production costs, especially in wages, there must be a corresponding rise in retail prices.

Prefers Low Prices.

The car industry does not cherish high prices; it needs volume both for sustained factory operations and profit, and volume does not thrive on high prices.

Although maintaining they can sell all the vehicles the assembly plants can produce next year, the sales executives of the various companies do not deny that thousands of would-be buyers already have been "priced out of the market" by the steadily mounting retail charges.

They do not like to think about what further price increases might do to the 1947 and 1948 market for automobiles, particularly those in what fromerly was the "low-price" field. This bracket, which in normal times accounts for up to 80 per cent of the industry's volume, reportedly already has begun to feel the effects of large order withdrawals.

In some industry sources General Motors' recent cancellation of orders for 1948 model dies is seen as laying the pattern for the industry's strategy for the next two years. As these sources view it, this contemplates sustaining the demand for lower priced cars by avoiding any engineering or design advances that would add to their cost.

Changes Halted.

Withholding the changes originally planned for 1948 models was the only way, say these authorities, that a runaway upsurge in prices for the less expensive models could be avoided. It is considered significant in this connection that in disclosing the tool and die cancellation, General Motors President C. E. Wilson said the action would affect Chevrolet, Pontiac and Oldsmobile; no mention was made of Buick and Cadillac.

If the assumptions in industry circles prove correct nothing more than "face-lifting" changes again will be in prospect for cars in the lower-priced brackets, while alterations may be made in the upper-middle and higher priced models.

Ford and Chrysler have made no disclosure of their long range planning, but industry quarters take it for granted that in the face of an uncertain 1947 and 1948 market, they too, will sidetrack expensive re-tooling projects at least for their lower-priced models.

Automotive experts figure that General Motors' cancellation of tool and die work for most of its 1948 models effected a saving of about $50,000,000 in next year's budget.

Other manufacturers can make good use of similar savings; there will be no excess profits tax credits to offset losses next year.

UNION LABEL

There's a report to the effect that $500 bills are being counterfeited—so be on the lookout.

America's desire, as stated by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes: "We prefer to prevent, rather than to win the next war."

Inclination of some motorists is to skip 1947 entirely and start looking forward to new 1948 models—with some possibility of price reductions by that time.

Why Not Reduce Prices Instead?

WHILE wage raises, induced by organized pressure, give an appearance of benefit to only a small minority of workers, the resultant jump in prices affects everybody.

If, as is being contended by spokesmen for the CIO, another boost of 25 per cent can be made in industrial wages without necessitating further price increases, why would it not be equally practicable to reduce present high prices approximately 25 per cent, to the benefit of everyone?

It is quite obvious, if the disaster-stage of inflation is to be avoided in this country, there must be a stopping place in the wage-price spiral, and the quicker this is reached the better it will be for all concerned.

Contention that wages can be substantially boosted without raising prices is entirely that of organized labor spokesmen and must be discounted because of sufficient experience to the contrary—most glaringly in the automobile industry, for which Walter Reuther expresses the CIO viewpoint. Despite a succession of price raises it is found that motor companies have operated at a loss, because of high costs and limited production.

What is really needed, it appears, is a calm and honest study of wage and price relationships, rather than continuance of the heated controversy in which only one side of the argument is presented by its selfishly interested proponents.

One remark which Mr. Reuther is quoted as having made in a speech Saturday is worthy of thought. He said: "We cannot escape the drift toward disaster if we go into another wave of strikes"—and even the most impetuous and irresponsible dictator of labor union action would scarcely move to precipitate such a calamity in the country of his birth or adoption.

Murray Shaffer Chosen For Big Job

THE PEOPLE of Mansfield and Richland county, who know Murray D. Shaffer well, are naturally pleased by the announcement that Governor-elect Thomas J. Herbert has chosen him for appointment to the highly responsible post of state highway director—thus giving Mr. Shaffer a well-deserved opportunity to go forward with the post-war highway construction and rehabilitation program which he has been largely instrumental in formulating.

Here is an instance in which there can be no question as to the qualifications of the man who has been selected, and those who are familiar with the record of Murray Shaffer in the various engineering positions he has held in the past will feel complete confidence in his dependable honesty as well as in his capability.

Governor-elect Herbert is to be complimented on his selection of Mr. Shaffer to fill a position which will be of outstanding importance in carrying through the comprehensive highway improvement program planned for 1947 and thereafter.

A phase of the state highway department operation which should be taken into account is that the position of director—which calls for the highest of engineering talent—pays a salary of only $6,500 a year, with considerably lower salaries for other jobs in the department in which it is essential to have well-trained and dependable engineers.

When it is considered that direction of this department involves annual expenditure of millions of dollars, and when the judgment of individuals enters so largely into assurance of economical spending, it would appear that, as a preliminary to Mr. Shaffer's entry into the directorship, it would be advisable to have a complete survey made of the present department personnel, with a view to determining qualifications and making sure that compensation is sufficient to attract qualified persons to various positions which require special engineering training and experience.

Where Christmas Trees Are a 'Crop'

WHILE a considerable number of the Christmas trees being sold in Mansfield this year are products of this Ohio area, it is interesting to note that one-fifth of all the nation's Christmas trees are grown in a few Montana counties, where they are regarded as a "crop," just like other farm products.

For the past several years from two to three million Christmas trees have been shipped from that region, but because of careful cutting practices and efficient reforestation management, there are still enormous Christmas tree resources there.

The trees are shipped to all parts of the country, some going as far away as Maine, a state proud of its own Christmas tree crops. The western foresters think their trees do not shed needles as readily as trees grown in other sections, though this is always subject to argument from other regions proud of their own products.

It appears that the "portal-to-portal" pay for mine workers may soon provide a pattern for "gate-to-gate" pay in some other lines of employment—and, of course, the "home-to-home" idea may be expected to evolve eventually.

Harry Wade has an idea that we may never learn what Churchill thought of FDR. "In Britain," he says, "younger sons who blurt are shipped somewhere east of Suez, and left to age."

A federal judge has ordered that Palm Springs, Calif., be returned to the Indians—and there might even be a chance that they would be willing to take back Hollywood.

One observer notes that the 4,000 men on the Byrd antarctic trip provide material for exactly 1,000 male quartets, in case time hangs heavy during the long nights.

'Seniority' Squabble Holding Up Senate Newspaper Investigation

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One of the most useful investigations planned in the senate has been all up-in-the-air because of that time-honored question, "seniority"—plus a certain amount of big business pressure.

The senate small business committee, headed by Molasses-moving Senator Jim Murray of Montana, has carefully prepared some amazing data on the squeeze being put on small newspapers. The advance probe ranged from the newsprint monopoly to featherbedding by labor unions, some of which charge a newspaper twice for setting type.

The probe also showed the terrific mortality of smaller newspapers, and a scheme by about 20 of the nation's biggest papers to corner most of the chain grocery store advertising.

After the senate small business committee spent weeks on this study, however, the November elections showed that the committee soon would have a new chairman. Whereupon millionaire Senator Murray of Montana got lethargic. A slow mover anyway, he was further handicapped by a seniority quarrel within Republican ranks.

Ordinarily, the chairmanship of the small business committee would havegone to ex-undertaken Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, who replaced the late great George Norris and has been trying to make up in noise for what Norris hadin statesmanship.

However, Senator George Wilson of Iowa, another Republican, had his name read into the journal of the committee a few minutes before Wherry and, therefore, outranks him as a member of the small business committee. Actually, both men were elected to the senate simultaneously, but Wherry took the oath of office ahead of Wilson, though Wilson became a member of the small business committee ahead of Wherry.

Thus, it is nip and tuck as to which should get the chairmanship.

However, there is another complication. Wherry has a secret ambition tobe vice-president candidate on the Republican ticket in 1948. He also figures that the small business chairmanship would be a big publicity-builder-up for that ambition.

Meanwhile, Senator Taft of Ohio, who also has well-known ideas about the presidency in 1948, is none too enthusiastic about Wherry as a running mate. And Taft may have something to say about who will be chairman of what committee.

Those are some of the how-many-angels-can-stand-on-the-point-of-a-needle problems which worry the august senators while the plight of small business andsmall newspapers remains on the sidelines.

Mayor Kelly Collects.

Although the Democrats have tried to livedown the widespread belief that they are dominated by big-city machine bosses, here is one story that can't be laughed off.

The Democratic national committee sent checks to a number of congressional candidates throughout the country to help them in last month's election campaigns. One was a check for $1,000 to Representative Alexander Resa, liberal Chicagoan. Democratic National Treasurer George Killion made the check out to Resa, but sent it directly to Mayor Ed Kelly, boss of the Chicago Democrats.

When Kelly received it, he phoned Resa and told him to come down to his office. Kelly then showed him the check and said:

"You know the county committee here is badly in need of money. Don't you think you could turn that over to us?"

Resa replied that he had personally contributed $2,000 two years ago and $2,000 this year to the county machine and his district organization.

He said hewas not a rich man and needed the $1,000 for heavy campaign expenses. But Kelly insisted Resa endorse the check over to him for the county committee.

Knowing that he could not afford to buck the Kelly machine just before the election, Resa endorsed the check and left it on Kelly's desk. He later lost his house seat—by a very slim margin.

A-Bomb Secrets.

Dr. Leo Szilard, one of the top scientists in the Manhattan district project, was discussing atomic energy with a group of officials in Washington the other day and told this story:

"The other day I met a scientist who did not work on the atomic bomb project," Szilard said. "He asked me some questions about the bomb. I countered by asking him—as a scientist who did not participate in the discovery of the bomb secrets—just how he thought the bomb was made. He outlined his own ideas. I checked in the laboratory and, believe it or not, found that he had a simpler method of making the a-bomb than any we had developed."

New Wage Policy.

A new policy line in preventing strikes was agreed on at a secret meeting of Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and his top advisers last week.

Hereafter, government mediation machinery will swing into action four to five months before union contracts expire in major industries, instead of waiting until union demands and strike threats are in the air.

It is felt that many serious work stoppages can be avoided if union demands are anticipated and negotiations begun well in advance of contract expirations.

The first major industry on which the new policy will be tried will be the maritime, which faces another possible work stoppage in June. At that time, union contracts of able-bodied seamen of the AFL and CIO on the west and east coasts expire.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Dec. 18, 1926.

Consulting engineer told Chamber of Commerce members that Mansfield was the largest city in the country without a plumbing code and inspector.

S. F. Bell, Mansfield Civil war veteran, was re-appointed postmaster of state senate, a position he had held for a number of years.

Henry R. Platt was elected president of Amima club at meeting held at Elks grill.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Washington, 21 Clairmont avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Glendening, 44 Stewart avenue, presented her pupils in a piano recital.

Miss Jean Gibson, student at Wellesley college, was home for the holidays.

Birthday party was given for George Hollingshead, East Fourth street.

Dave Boone Says:

MOBSTERS, gamblers and fixers are at work in sports all over the United States all the time and almost everybody knows it. In fact, far from their being roughly handled, they move around as celebrities. They get the best tables at restaurants and night clubs, the best of attention and even some of the best publicity.

* * *

Talk of fixed fights, hockey games and pro football games has become so common that, sad as it may be, even the fans have lost their capacity for indignation.

* * *

Which is why I can't understand the expressions of amazement over some attempted fixing in one contest.

* * *

Gambling has become the No. 1 industry in this country. It is operated like a big business. Its agents swarm all over New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Miami and almost everywhere else. They are about the greasiest, slimiest and most nefarious group in the land.

* * *

These big-shot gamblers are well known to the police but nothing ever happens to them until some occasion arises where a couple of kids can be disgraced first.

Timely Editorial

Age of Understanding.

A person old enough to provide himself with a forged birth certificate to buy a drink on licensed premises is old enough to realize that a violation of the law must somewhere be entailed in the subterfuge.

It is in order, we think, that an association of bar operators has proposed an ordinance penalizing minors who obtain liquor through misrepresentation. In other ways, not all in the liquor business are above crowding the law that controls the traffic, but few are so stupid as to sell to the underaged.

Self-interest, if nothing else, would deter them. The minor who wishes to be considered an adult for purposes of getting drink can have no complaint if the law feels he is sufficiently responsible to distinguish right from wrong.—Detroit News.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

December 18, 1621, marked the issuance of "The Great Protestation" by Parliament. It declared that liberties, franchises and jurisdictions of Parliament are the birthright and inheritance of the people of England.

Courage is, on all hands, considered as an essential of high character.—Froude.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THERE is testimony that Sen. Bilbo had a lake built on his place . . . Evidently the one he has told so many people to go jump into.

* * *

But more astonishing is the attempt to "fix" sports in New York . . . The outlook is that several gamblers will receive bail bonds for Christmas gifts.

* * *

Not that sports-fix efforts are new . . . Probably Ben Hur was propositioned to throw a wheel on his chariot.

* * *

In Kentucky, 600 cases of whisky were destroyed in a distillery fire . . . The WCTU failed to answer the alarm but I hear firemen from all surrounding towns were ready and willing.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Disturbing Questions Are Brought to Mind.

WASHINGTON—Since television seems to be the coming thing, it is too bad that it is not yet in such popular use that the senate hearings into the war contract "gratuity" charges against Senator Theodore G. Bilbo could be televised.

For one thing, the multiple phases of the probe make it perhaps the most important such congressional inquiry conducted here during the past generation. It is one which should be scrutinized closely by every American citizen.

For another, the important undercurrents of personal conduct and appearance which run through the proceedings almost defy description. They have to be seen to be fully appreciated—in their very implication.

The three shadowy suggestions which hover over the hearing like witches over a steaming cauldron are questions which threaten the very basis of American democratic government:

1—Are seats in the nation's highest legislative body peddled with impunity among professional politicians, often for cash on the line?

2—Did certain legislators so lose their sense of responsibility to the dead and the dying during the recent war as to sell to the highest bidders their influence in the granting of war contracts?

3—Is the refusal of the right to vote to some minority groups going to continue to be standard operating procedure in certain sections of the country?

Technically speaking, only the second of those three questions is the official concern of the committee. Hence, reporters and commentaiors — faced with the Herculean task of recounting the proceedings—must confine themselves largely to the developments on that score.

However, the presence of the other two problems daily is dramatically underscored. Two incidents best illustrate this.

One witness was testifying that defeated primary candidates in Mississippi accepted cash on the line in return for switching their support to the men who defeated them. Technically, its only connection with the hearing was to divulge what had been done with certain alleged donations made by war contractors.

Just as he was alleging that payments were made to one such defeated candidate, the witness was knocked from the stand by that very candidate. The hearings were recessed in the resultant melee.

When the witness returned to the stand the next day, he did an inexplicable about-face, insisting that he never meant to imply that the candidate had directly received any of the money.

What happened in the meantime to change his point of view or refresh his memory is anybody's guess—but one other candidate he had named frankly admitted receiving such money—and the importance of the unofficial, still unsettled, question remained underscored.

On that same day, Senator Mead, New York Democrat who heads the committee, asked a witness if "everybody in Mississippi" can vote. Although the senator had opened the hearings with the assertion that no questions of ideological import would be asked, there was no mistaking his meaning.

And while the witness writhed and twisted his words in a vague response, the silent Negroes sitting scattered through the rear of the caucus room smiled in grim appreciation of the question's irony. And Senator Bilbo sucked in his hollow cheeks, puckered his gnome-like face and shook his head in chiding mockery at Mead.

It is impossible to describe the discordant tones in the chorus of laughter which ran around the room at that point as it is to picture with words the molten anger which spread like masks over the faces of many men present when the testimony about paying off defeated candidates was introduced.

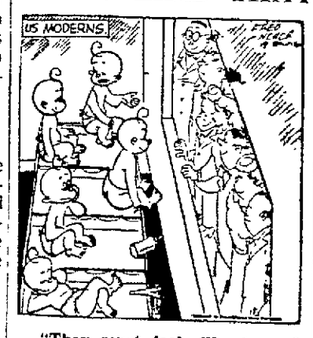
Nor can any factual report on the official phases of the hearing adequately explain the attitude of many of the war contractors present. Sitting in groups, they seemed to take confidence from their companions and often chuckled and chortled more like unrepentant schoolboys, caught in the act of shooting spitballs, than like well-to-do adult American citizens, faced with charges of grim and major import.

Once the committee reaches an official decision, it will concern one point only—whether or not Senator Bilbo accepted "gratuities" in return for influencing the granting of war contracts.

But the other questions run through the hearings like recurring revelations—like powerful undertones which sometimes threaten to drown out the official issue involved.

And it's too bad that every American citizen can not personally witness the entire proceedings.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"They must feel silly dressed in those outfits!"

Alabama Ignores "Right of Assembly."

WASHINGTON—There are many Souths, as we who are natives and familiar with it know.

There is the South of fine and public-spirited people who are striving today, as they have through the years, to eliminate intolerance and poverty and ignorance and greed which exists also, of course, in other parts of the country.

Then there is the intolerance against which they battle, symbolized in Senator Bilbo of Mississippi and his like who try to intimidate Negroes from exercising their right under the Constitution to vote; and Representative Rankin of Mississippi who exudes his prejudices through the house un-American activities committee, and Gene Talmadge of Georgia who exploited racial prejudice to get himself re-elected governor of Georgia.

Then there is a spirit of bourbonism, blood relation to intolerance, which reacts against those who try to do anything to raise the standards of workers in the mills and tenants on the farm.

It is a sort of hangover from ante-bellum master-slave philosophy but in its manifestations it often is more characteristic of the hardened overseer than of the plantation owner.

Recently, in their attempts to organize workers into unions to improve their living conditions, the CIO and AFL have encountered experiences that show this evil spirit of bourbonism. There has been some rough stuff on occasion, though not as much as formerly.

Then there are just plain silly things, such as what has happened recently in Alabama.

The locale is Alexander City. There, some time ago, the Textile Workers Union of America, (CIO) began to organize workers in the Russell Manufacturing company of that town. Some workers were fired as the union campaign progressed.

That is a familiar fright device. The union filed charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board on the ground that the employes were dropped because of union activity, which would be a violation of the Wagner Act. The NLRB ordered a hearing on these charges, which is the usual procedure.

It requested the use of the city hall in Alexander City for the hearings. This was refused. The reason given was the "coal shortage," which was not a legitimate excuse at all according to residents who know the situation. Though it may have had nothing to do with it, the head of the company is a nephew of the mayor of Alexander City.

So the board looked around for another meeting place. It was found that the hall of local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans was available and permission to use it was secured. But, just before the scheduled day to open the hearings, the veterans notified the NLRB that the hall could not be used.

Finally the hearing was opened early this month at Ann Jordan lodge which belongs to the University of Alabama, and is about seven miles from Alexander City. But, after several days, the NLRB was notified that it could no longer use the lodge.

Then it moved the hearings to a night club about four and a half miles from the town. But just a few days ago, the board was told by the night club that the hearings no longer could be held there.

Now the NLRB thinks it has found a place from which it can not be dislodged. This is the courtroom in the federal district court at Opelika, which is all right, except that it is about 50 miles from Alexander City, where all this started.

What is this all about?.

Simply that the manufacturing company brought pressure all around successfully to try to block the hearing until a refuge finally was found in a building belonging to the United States of America.

As said before, it's a silly sort of procedure, but it shows to what lengths the powers-that-be in southern small towns sometimes will go. There's something in the Constitution about the right of free assembly. It doesn't seem to be known in some parts of Alabama by some people.

Scrutiny of Income Tax Returns Sighted.

WASHINGTON — Zealous Republicans bent on unearthing every skeleton in the Democratic closet discovered the other day that President Truman had presented them with a powerful weapon. Before the election, the president signed an executive order giving the senate defense investigating committee the right to call for any income tax return made between the years 1939 and 1945 inclusive.

This is a sweeping power which few investigating committees have ever possessed. When the president was chairman of what was then known as the Truman committee, he had no such authority.

The Republican to wield this power will be Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, who will be the new chairman of the investigating committee. Brewster exceeds in inquisitorial zeal any member of his party in congress. He will need no prodding to make generous use of the authority granted by the president.

The secrecy of income tax returns is carefully safeguarded by law, which is the reason it takes an executive order to make them available even to a congressional committee.

The president's order was issued in the aftermath of the Garsson munitions scandal. Members of the investigating committee, both Democrats and Republicans, urged that the power to look into the tax returns of possible war profiteers would be extremely useful.

For nearly two years a controversy has gone on inside the administration over a tax return filed by one of the late President Roosevelt's advisers. This controversy may be aired by the defense investigating committee after Brewster takes over.

In the course of a routine investigation, agents of the bureau of internal revenue turned up the most astonishing evidence of what appeared to be out-and-out fraud. Stubs in check books had been altered to show, for example that the amount contributed to charity was 10 times what it actually was.

Rather large sums of money were involved, although presumably the official's chief source of income was his government salary. Payments had been received from very curious sources.

As a result of the investigation, it was recommended that the official be prosecuted for fraud. Then the political pulling and hauling began. Powerful pressures were brought to bear to permit the individual to pay the tax together with the fraud penalties, which he had pleaded to be allowed to do. That would, of course, have ended the matter.

Higher officials in the treasury stoutly refused to permit this. At least one memorandum is in the treasury files, unless it has been destroyed in recent months, which uses scorching language about the case, declaring that it "reeks with fraud."

The treasury finally sent the case to the department of justice with recommendation for action. That was more than a year and a half ago. The delay is believed to have been due, in part at least, to the desire of Attorney General Tom C. Clark to clear up certain technicalities. There was a question of whether the official had made "voluntary admissions" which might have invalidated the government's case.

It is now believed that the case will be submitted to a federal grand jury.

This may be before the Republicans can get around to calling for the tax return. The statute of limitations does not run where fraud is involved in income tax returns.

In the years 1939 to 1945, both individuals and corporations made the lushest incomes in the history of the internal revenue bureau. While much of it was paid to the government in taxes, the record of income and outgo, of deductions and special payments, is extremely important.

Armed with extraordinary authority, Owen Brewster is likely to bring to light some of the most sensational phases of the record.

Farmer's Diary: "A 'Homey' Old Home."

THE ex-army-officer with his wife and three young children have just moved into their new home in a neighboring village.

"They fit that house better than anybody that has ever lived there," one of their neighbors told me. "Funny, isn't it, how people leave their mark upon the house they live in?"

"It's a quaint, good old house," I ventured. "Who owned it before these people came?"

"They say a squire built it for his young wife—his second wife, more than 75 years ago. He didn't spare anything, to build it well—and they lived there until they moved south in order to have sunshine all the year around. Finally she put it up for sale and it was auctioned off to a widow who kept roomers.

"I've been here alongside for nigh 30 years. That place has changed hands pretty regular. Every time, it was remodeled and refinished inside. Once, for ten years or so, it was a school for orphans. During this last war, the government bought it and fixed it up for offices and sleeping quarters for army personnel.

"That didn't last so long, but it seemed to me the old house was glad when it got back into private hands. It has been refinished all over again, too. This woman makes it look really homey. And with three children running in and out, I guess it's going to have a spell of happy living—normal living, that is.

"How many rooms are there?"

"Seven—and a big ceiled attic. The ell is the dining room, with a view three ways. Notice all the pretty houseplants in her windows!"

"Do they have any pets?"

"One boy has rabbits, and the other has canaries. They are 10 and 12 years old—the boys, that is. Then the baby is a little girl—she's three or four. She has a kitten—a little white one. Their parents train the kids to take care of their own pets. Both boys sell stock, occasionally. Rabbits are marketable—so are canaries.

"Everybody likes to see the old place look so normally lived in . . . I hope these people stay a long time."

Spartans, Romans Had Wrong Idea, State Truman's Economic Advisers

WASHINGTON — (CP) — The Spartans had an idea, so did the Romans—and neither one was right.

That's the conclusion of President Truman's economic council in a section of its first report devoted to the role of government in the national economy.

The Spartan doctrine was let nature take its course. The council said this meant a fatalistic attitude that booms and depressions cannot be avoided, that the main thing is to recognize when each is coming and be prepared to profit by it.

* * *

LIKE THE ANCIENT SPARTANS, the council said, believers in this doctrine would "expose the young and weak, no less than the strong, to the full force of nature, trusting that the strong will survive and only the weak will perish." This doctrine would tolerate no attempts, by government or anyone else, to interfere with the operation of natural laws.

The Roman doctrine was "external remedy." For a time, the council said, Roman citizens were relieved by their government of the "compulsion of relying on their own efforts to keep their economy at a desirable level—bread and circuses were provided for all."

American economic thinking of the past, the council said, has been "largely of the Spartan pattern of self-reliance, although the softer Roman philosophy of external salvation has been aggressively sponsored in recent years."

* * *

THE PROPER ROLE OF GOVERNMENT in a democracy, the council said, is the middle road between the two.

"Calm judgment must be exercised not to rush in fussily, ministering to small and temporary disturbances that would right themselves sooner and better if left to themselves. On the other hand, carelessness or ignorance must not keep government from detecting serious symptoms promptly and initiating corrective measures with skill and decisiveness."

This concept, the council said, "we find to be written securely into the employment act of 1946."

The population of Jerusalem is about 150,000.

5 MORE MEN JOIN NAVY V-6 RESERVE

Latest Mansfielders to enlist in the navy's V-6 inactive reserve are Charles M. Mishey, Roy Starner, jr., Howard F. Log, Robert E. Harris and Kurt R Forster. The men were sworn inby Lt. Comdr. A. E. Heiser.

In releasing the names of these men, Mansfield naval recruiters said approximately 700 ex-navy men are needed to serve on recruiting duty for the concerted drive to enlist men in the V-6 inactive duty program.

Yeomen, pharmacist's mates, and other groups of pay grades 1 to 3 inclusive are needed for this duty. By next July 1 the Columbus recruiting area expects to enlist 11,000 men in the V-6 program, it was reported.

ERECT 500 MARKERS

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(ANS)—Five hundred markers memorializing historic Pennsylvania incidents and sites are being erected by the state government. The first plaque was located on U. S. Route 22, honoring residents of that area who went on record favoring severence from Great Britain in 1774.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD—Cary Grant's marriage to blond Betty Hensel (who resembles the Duchess of Windsor) isn't much further off than Santa Claus, their intimates believe. . . . Richard Reynolds has given his bride, Marianne O'Brien, a pre-Christmas present: a $10,000,000 island off the coast of Georgia. . . . Maria Montez, who recently underwent surgery on her hip, is still in great pain. It may be months before she can return to the movie stages. . . . A Broadway producer is seeking the legitimate rights to "The Hucksters." . . . Laraine Day, who thought her divorce case was going to be a quite one, is so upset and indignant over Ray Hendricks' charges that she intends to reply with a few headline-makers of her own. . . . International experts predict Belgium will have atomic energy available for commercial use by late 1949. . . . Edna Ryan, until recently Leo Durocher's heartthrob, now duets with Johnny Martin. . . . Walter Pidgeon is looking over the script of a proposed Broadway musical. The book has excited huzzahs from all who've read it.

* * *

The reviewer for a national magazine, who referred to "The Razor's Edge" as "superb," hadn't even seen the film when the critique was printed. He admitted this to friends when he went to a showing days later. . . . Hot feuds on in Philadelphia between Peggy Ryan, the Universal starlet, and Claude Thornbill, the orchestra leader, who are appearing on the same bill at the Earle. Observers report they even hurl sarcasms at each other on stage.

* * *

A big baseball trade involving the N. Y. Giants is expected to break any edition. . . . The Hollywood grapevine is reviving rumors that Jimmy Durante will make Margie Little his Mrs. . . . Gwen Bolger, wife of Ray, is writing the story of their 17 years of marriage. She'll call it (with his loving permission) "The Ham and I." . . . Keenan Wynn, who's left Gotham, continues to shower showgirl Mike Maurce with orchids. . . . Jockey Bobby Merritt's wife has started a suit for separation. . . . Marilyn Maxwell's newest worshipper is a famous straight man.

* * *

Turhan Bey and Audrey Totter are making like a romance. . . . After a stiff diet, Red Skelton is 30 pounds lighter. . . . Members of the "Eagle Rampant" cast have nicknamed Taliulah Bankhead "Miss Bank Account." She allegedly gets a 25 per cent slice of the show and 15 per cent of the gross for her valuable chores. . . . Artie Shaw's gum ailment makes it necessary for him to abandon the clarinet for several months. . . . Martha Sleeper of "Christopher Blake" jeeps around town like an MP. It's quite a sight when she clambers out of the buggy and dashes into 21. . . . You'd be surprised at the name of the big-time New York politician whose alcoholism has reached the D.T.'s stage.

* * *

Networks have banned the new ditty "Divorce Me C. O. D." because they claim it encourages trips to Reno. . . . Mexican report: that King Carol's physicians have given him a year to live. . . . U. S. racetrack owners are willing to pay J. Edgar Hoover $100,000 a year if he'll take the job of keeping rackets out of racing. . . . Lawrence Tierney, the "Dillinger" of the movies (and a Hollywood headline hitter), must be slipping. When a couple of patrons started swinging at each other in an East Side bar the other night, he just sat there quietly minding his own business!

* * *

There's a persistent Tin Pan Alley rumor that Woody Herman's excellent band will be broken up during the next few weeks. . . . Howard Hughes' girl-of-the-moment is Jean Peters, film newcomer, who'll be Tyron Power's next leading lady. . . . The atom bomb deep-water test (test No. 3), which was postponed indefinitely, may take place after all. But not off Bikini.

Barclay On Bridge

In the long run, skill in selecting the opening lead pays heavy dividends. The resourceful thinker anaylzes the bidding, makes deductions about what the declarer and dummy hold, studies his own hand and then filally selects a card which promises most for his side. Either it launches the development of tricks for his own side, or kills tricks for the declarer, or else, in a sort of passive way, it avoids developing tricks for the declarer. But all of that skill is wasted sometimes, in situations where the leader is afraid to lead away from a ten-ace.

Even with the warning of South's terrific distribution, which he gave in the bidding, West could hardly be blamed for doubling that eleven-trick contract. He did not have a big set in prospect, but the likelihood of setting it one trick appeared to be an absolute certainty. Surely he could count on his club K taking a trick at the left of the bidder. His diamond A was a sure thing for another, and a spade trick seemed certain. If South's shortness was anywhere, it would have to be in hearts, of which West had so many. At least that's how it looked, in the West.

Then West recalled North's 3-No Trumps bid along the way and saw there was danger that any spade loser or losers might get discarded on the dummy's hearts. It looked as if he ought to cash his spade A before South could get one or more spade discards on hearts. But he could not bear to lead from a holding of the A-Q.

That fear gave South his contract. West made the "book" lead of the heart Q. Two top hearts then enabled South to get rid of his only spade. Thereafter he could not possibly lose anything but one trick each in the minors, by finessing his clubs.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Dec. 19.

Although there may be obstacles, snags and difficult problems temporarily blocking the way, there is no intimation of finality in such predicament. There is every evidence of shrewd insight, quick and comprehensive analysis of the set-up and exceptional grasp of underlying factors, the mind being keen, penetrating with the impetus toward singularly astute and sagacious handling of difficulties. In this there should be desired help, with financial support for fresh vaulting over obstacles.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of impediment, frustration and stubborn obstacle, with lagging and static undercurrents. Yet the mentality is so shrewd, calculating and dependable, with its studied analysis of problems and holdups, that it should be able to cope with most disconcerting and disheartening situations. In such crises there is help from higher-ups, impressed by sound plans and persistent labor to be generous in their support. Work toward enduring goals.

Missionary Talks Sunday

Rev. W. Don McClure, returned missionary from Africa, will speak at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. on some of his interesting experiences in converting members of African tribes to Christianity.

The meeting will be a union session sponsored by Mansfield church laymen, with arrangements in charge of the Mansfield committee of the Laymen's Missionary movement. Members of the Women's Church Federation are cooperating in plans for the meeting and all young people's societies of Mansfield churches will be invited as special guests.

In telling of his work in Africa as a Presbyterian missionary, Rev. McClure will speak particularly on his experiences with the Anuak tribe, whose chief was so impressed with the missionary's vigorous presentation of the gospel that he offered to order his entire tribe of 40,000 people into the mission headquarters for baptism.

Rev. McClure has chosen as his topic, "How to Reach Africa for Christ."

GALION COUNCIL APPROVES PLAN FOR SANITATION

New Sewers Planned in City; Other Actions Taken.

GALION—City council turned on the "go" sign yesterday to proceed with installation of sanitary sewers in various districts of the city.

City Solicitor F. M. Shumaker was instructed to draw up the necessary legislation, and Engineer K. A. Poister was told to prepare plans and estimates for construction of a sanitary sewer in the vicinity of Andrews' Dairy in the west part of town.

* * *

North End Sewer.

Poister also presented an estimate on the 12th district trunk line in Galion's north end at $6,192. The city solicitor was instructed to draw up the necessary legislation to proceed with this improvement.

Councilman William Kunkel reported favorably for his committee on the installation of a sanitary sewer on Second avenue. A petition from property owners for this sewer was received at the last council meeting.

* * *

Ordinances Passed.

Ordinances passed by council included one to transfer $500 from the general fund to the East Side park light fund, and one to purchase part of outlot No. 310 from Joseph Cottyan for the water works.

A resolution was passed to proceed with the sanitary sewer on the South State road in the 13th district trunk line.

Solicitor Shumaker was authorized to draw up necessary legislation to purchase additional equipment for the city shovel which is used in street and sewer work.

Mayor William Amann's report for the past month totaled $323 for collections.

HOCKER ELECTED

GALION—Fred C. Hocker, retired hardware merchant of Galion, has been elected to the board of directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan association. He was elected at the regular meeting of the board Monday. Hocker will fill the vacancy made by the death of Attorney Dean C. Talbott.

MONN TO SEEK SHELBY OFFICE

SHELBY—Chester P. Monn yesterday became the city's first candidate for a municipal office at the primary election next August by disclosing that he would seek his fifth two-year term as director of finance and public records.

Monn, a veteran at the city hall, first took over the finance post in 1940 after being employed as bookkeeper with his father, C. P. Monn, in the Monn Dry Goods store.

Frank Long, mayor of Shelby for the last four years, already has announced that he would not seek the post again next fall.

Candidates who may seek the office include former mayor William Morris; former Fourth Ward Councilman Charles Swanger; Hal Shreffler, Castambe theater manager, and M. E. Berkley.

Galion Hunters Encircle Deer

GALION—The biggest thrill for fox hunters in this vicinity Sunday was the sight of a deer which they rounded up about a mile north of Galion. The fox hunters killed thre foxes northwest of the city.

The big doe was encircled in the ring of hunters who left the airport. She was released after all of the hunters had a good look at her.

On Saturday the hunters joined with West Point hunters when seven foxes were killed in the West Point vicinity. There were 65 hunters in the entire group. This was the second hunt this year, with the total now reaching 14 for the season.

DWIRES OF SHILOH BOUND FOR EUROPE

SHILOH—Mrs. R. B. Dwire and daughter, Beverly, of Shiloh, were in New York today preparing to board a ship to Europe, where they will join Capt. R. D. Dwire, serving with American forces in Castle, Germany.

Capt. Dwire, son of Mrs. Grayce Dwire, of Shiloh, has selected a house in Castle, where the family will make its home during his tour of duty there.

He has served in the ordnance department in Portage, O., Seneca, N. Y. and Tooele, Utah, and went overseas last August.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Dispatches from Atlanta relating the theatrical adventures of secret agents of the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league in penetrating the confidential circle of a group called the Columbians, mentioned Mario Buzzi, of New York, as one of the daring operatives.

In July, 1943, a select committee of the house held hearings in Washington to inquire whether the Federal Communications commission had violated the law in the conduct of its affairs. The committee was particularly interested in evidence that citizens had been spied upon, hounded, ruled off the air and otherwise deprived of their rights on false charges and suspicions that they were spreading enemy propaganda by radio.

James H. Sheldon, known as "Doctor" Sheldon, the administrative chairman and executive director of the anti-Nazi league, was a witness. Sheldon appeared in Atlanta last week, large with momentary dramatic importance, and held a "press conference" jointly with Eugene Cook, the attorney general of Georgia, at which he proudly described the work of his league's secret agents, including Buzzi. Apparently the reporters did not think to ask questions about Buzzi. The fact that the league, a private group like the Columbians, could be just as impudent and dangerous seems not to have been considered on the spot.

* * *

Examined by Eugene Garey, of New York, counsel for the house committee, on Aug. 18, 1943, Sheldon said he took "active charge" of the league in 1941. Prior to his connection with the league, he had been a visiting professor at Boston University for a brief period, teaching American government, constitutional law and political philosophy.

He said the league investigated persons whom it suspected of pro-Nazi activities, and maintained a staff of investigators whose reports were retained in its files. Although one "Richard Rollins" wrote a book called "I Find Treason," in which he said the "executive secretary" of the league hired him to be head of its "large department of investigation," I find no mention of "Rollins" in Sheldon's testimony.

Garey asked Sheldon whether he knew Buzzi. Sheldon said he knew "a man who has used that name," but said the fellow's real name was Bossi. He was not sure whether Bossi or Buzzi was an American citizen. And, although he thought Buzzi had been in the United States only seven or eight years, "I have heard him mention some activities in which he took part in connection with the 1936 Democratic campaign," seven years earlier.

The committee had tried to find Buzzi to examine him and Garey asked Sheldon where Buzzi was. Sheldon said he didn't know.

"He went for a physical examination to a number of doctors," Sheldon said. "He had a rather grave mental condition."

Sheldon said it had been found "more or less urgent" that Buzzi should have "a rather long vacation."

Tiny Barbara Gives Coo Cue; Everyone Has a Swell Time

Tiny Barbara Kay McCulley, just eight weeks old, adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCulley, rear 558 Heineman boulevard, attended her first Christmas party last night. And a momentous occasion it was.

It was a "first" party, one which bids fair to become one of Mansfield's traditional parties in the years to come—the Richland county probate court Christmas entertainment for all the parents who have taken children for adoption.

Last night those who adopted children from 1942 to 1946 came.

Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer received an honorary title which, from the happiness he displayed, convinced those present that he wouldn't trade it for all the legal and professional titles he could have bestowed upon him.

He became "grandpa Cramer" to the more than 100 children the probate court has placed in adoption.

* * *

"WE NEVER EXPECTED anything like this—it's wonderful," exclaimed Mrs. Marjorie Comer, juvenile officer in charge of adoption as she looked at the more than 150 smiling faces busily engaged in collecting autographs, a means used to get everyone acquainted at the party.

Mrs. Comer, incidentally, acquired the proud title of "aunty" from these children, too.

When the party began in the First Methodist church, the turnout was all that could be desired. F. M. Hoover showed a film depicting adoption service and case work in Cleveland. Then the judge said a few words, received his title and a treasured book with the autographs of every guest and their child or children.

* * *

THEN CAME THE CLIMAX of the evening—the goodies for which all the children had been waiting. Julia Ann Price, 10, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Price, Millsboro road, was the oldest child at the party.

After partaking of milk and doughnuts parents and children wished all a Merry Christmas and promised to meet again next year.

Little Barbara Kay, of course, couldn't have any milk and doughnuts—but the way she cooed all through the party assured everyone that she had just as good a time as everyone else.

5 to Receive Degrees at OSU

Five Ohio State university students of Mansfield and vicinity will be graduated as part of the class of 430 in autumn convocation exercises Thursday, OSU officials reported today.

Dr. William F. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, will be the speaker.

Mansfielders who will obtain degrees are:

Richard E. Coe, bachelor of science in business administration; True E. Read, bachelor of science in business administration, and David C. Walker, bachelor of science in business administration.

Others of the area to be graduated include Mildred L. Brody, Lexington, bachelor of science in business administration, and Susan G. Ragsdale, Loudonville, bachelor of science.

NAVY OPENS NEW COLUMBUS OFFICE

Opening of a naval civil readjustment office in Columbus at the New Post Office building on Jan. 6, 1947, was announced today by the Mansfield naval recruiting station.

This office is being opened to aid navy veterans in settling any legal readjustment matters such as claims, insurance, allowances, and reviews of discharges. Legal aid and proper procedure in handling official correspondence also will be handled through the branch office.

Youth Loses His Right to Drive

Raymond Karsmizki, 17, of Fifth avenue, lost his right to drive for 30 days yesterday when Juvenile Judge S. H. Cramer found him guilty of driving a vehicle across the yellow line.

State highway patrolmen cited him on U. S. Route 42 north of Mansfield. Judge Cramer qualified the sentence in order to permit the youth to drive for the purpose of employment only during the 30-day period.

JURORS WAIT, LEARN SUIT'S BEEN SETTLED

Case Set For Hearing Today When State Announces It's All Ove.

Mrs. Pauline Moore's suit to participate in death benefits from the Ohio Industrial Commission for the accidental death of her husband, Otis, Feb. 23 1943, was dismissed today with the announcement of an out-of-court settlement.

Mr. Moore, an employe of the village of Plymouth, was killed when a village truck pushed him against a building, and Mrs. Moore sought to participate in the commission's insurance death benefits.

A jury of 20 personswaited in common pleas court this morning the arrival of attorneys from the office of the attorney general when it was announced, 45 minutes after the scheduled court time, that the commission had agreed to pay Mrs. Moore $2,500 in settlement ofthe case.

Yesterday the Mansfield Telephone company and the Frank Mashuda company, grading contractor on the city's new airport, settled their suit over the damaging of an underground telephone cable across the airport site July 31, 1945.

The telephone firm had sued for $1,389 in damages allegedly caused to the cable by a tractor of the Mashuda company engaged in grading operations on the airport site.

Harold Goetz, 545 South Main street, was awarded no damages of $129.47 in his suit against Ed and Dale West, Springmill road, for $260 allegedly due him as fees for use of 80 acres in Worthington township and graingrown on the land. The jury awarded the Wests $50 on a claim they set up in a cross-petition and Goetz a gross sum of $179.47 onhis claim.

BOARD HEARS DITCH PLANS

Besides a hearing thisafternoon on the proposal to enclose part of Ritter's Run north of East First street in a paved tunnel, county commissioners had two other ditch hearings scheduled for today.

They were to assessproperty owners' costs in the proposals to clean out the City Farms ditch and to constructa closed tile ditch in the Homesite Gardens allotment, both inMadison township.

It is proposed to clean out and reconstruct parts of the City Farms ditch for some 1,50 feet at a cost estimated by the county engineer at $1,105. Some2,640 feet of the Homesite ditch isto be improved at an approximate cost of $528.

Estimated costs of paving the stream bed of Ritter's Run, and enclosing it in a masory arch, range from $14,581 to $2,473, depending upon the method of construction selected.

Meanwhile, commissioners had authorized the county engineer to clean out the Cheesman ditch in Plymouth township at an estimated cost of $1,260. Assessments are $1,074 against the property owners, $66 against Plymouth township, and $120 agaist Richland county.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Friay at 1 p. m., in charge of the Apostolic Christian church. Burial will be in Memorial park.

Stores Open Late For Three Nights

Regular store hours—9:15 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.—will be observed by most Mansfield retail stores on the day before Christmas, next Tuesday, V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager of the Retail Mrchants association, said today.

Nearly all stores will be open until 9 p. m. Friday, Saturday, and Monday but will close at the regular 5:30 hour on Tuesday, Lodde reported.

Flames Destroy Pastor's Home

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday destroyed the Methodist parsonage in Blooming Grve, one of the villages largest homes.

The pastor's family was away and neighbors broke into the house in time to carry out a few of the family's belongings

City Employe Stricken at 63

Virgil D. Johns, 63, city water works employe, died late yesterday in Memorial hospital, New York City, following surgery. Mr. Johns, who resided at 47 West First street, entered the hospital a week ago.

Born in Richland county Aug. 20, 1883, Mr. Johns had resided in Mansfield for more than 50 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel Johns; a daughter, Mrs. James Wendling of Cincinnati; a son, William Johns, and a step-son, James Leiter at home.

The body will be returned from New York early Thursday to the Jones Memorial where funeral arrangements are pending.

FAULTY WIRING IN YULE TREE BLAMED IN FIRE

Chief Cites Incident in Renewal of Safety Caution.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele could say "I told you so," today.

Conducting a campaign against Christmas season fire hazards, the chief had a real "example" to point to.

He said a fire at the home of John McCondichie, 541 Lily street, yesterday was traced to faulty wiring on Christmas tree lights.

The living room was heavily damaged and furniture and draperies were destroyed, he said. Fire broke out about 12:30 p. m.

Re-emphasizing the need for caution at Christmas time, the chief listed these "musts:"

1. Use lights on Christmas trees that are identified as safe by the label of Underwriters' Laboratories.

2. Have worn out light wirings examined by an electrician before they are strung on a tree. "Have them repaired before you string them," he warned.

3. Avoid all use of lighted candles; use non-burning ornaments on trees and for room decorations.

4. Dispose of gift wrappings immediately and smokers should stay away from trees, decorations and gift papers.

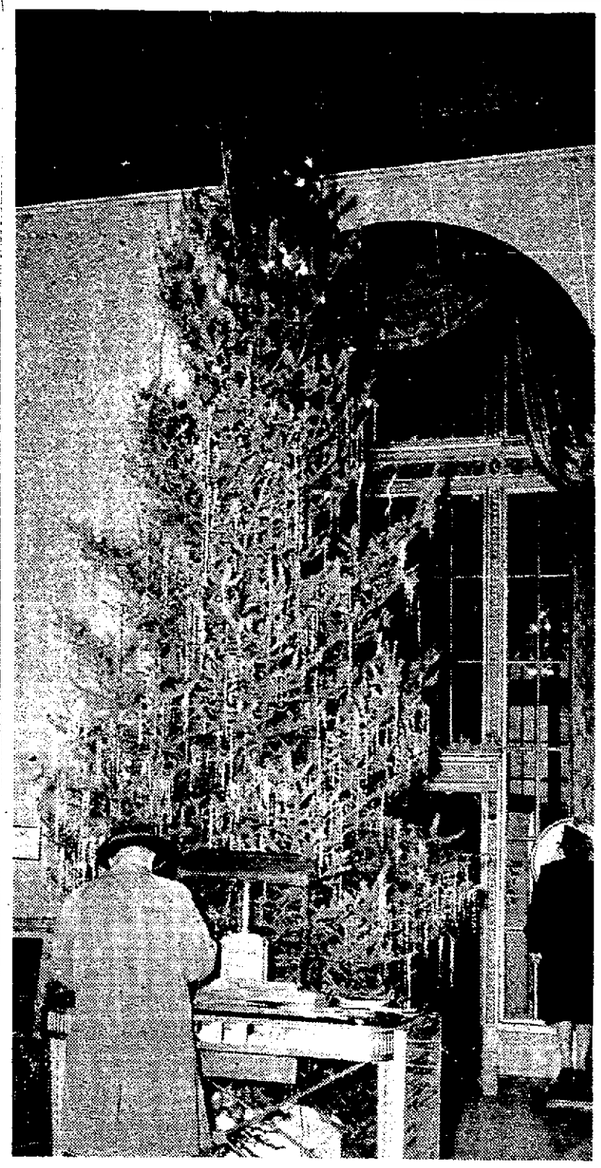
WORKERS TO GET PROFIT CHECKS

Gorman-Rupp factory and office employes will receive their profit-sharing checks for the second half of 1946 at their annual Christmas dinner and party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Thursday night, it was announced today.

Some 200 persons will attend the party at which Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church; J. C. Gorman, president of the firm, and H. E. Rupp, secretary of the company, will speak.

Continuing a custom started with the first company Christmas party 11 years ago, gifts will be distributed to the wives and sweethearts of male employes and to women employes. Following the dinner and speaking program, Speros Karas and his orchestra will play for dancing. Entertainment, including a magician, has also been arranged.

During 1947, five-year seniority will be achieved by 36 Gorman-Rupp employes, making them eligible for the company's employe retirement system. At present, 26 employes are eligible for benefits starting with retirement at age 65 and about two-thirds of the entire force will be eligible at the end of 1947. Cost of the plan is paid by the company. It provides cash monthly payments to retired employes or their beneficiaries.



WELCOME TO SANTA—One of Mansfield's biggest and prettiest trees stands in the lobby of the Farmers Savings and Trust bank where it can be seen by everybody entering the Farmers Bank building. The bank always has a big tree, but patrons have commented that this year's, shown above, is the best of them all.

Westinghouse to Entertain 1,000 Children at Yule Party

More than 1,000 children of Westinghouse employes are expected to attend the annual children's Christmas party to be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at the Ohio theater.

J. H. Ashbaugh, vice president of the Westinghouse electric appliance division, said attendance at the parties have outgrown plant facilities. The entire theater will be taken over for the morning's festivities, limited to children between the ages of five and 10 years, inclusive.

Entertainment will include a 40-minute stage show featuring a magician and bicycle acts as well as novelty musical entertainment and 30 minutes of special children's movies. Community singing will be led by Maurice Stretch, and Santa will make the gift distribution at the conclusion of the party.

Admission to the entertainment will be tickets secured at the Westinghouse plant by employes. Trained nurses will be assisted by a special group of Boy Scouts and city police in handling the expected crowd of children.

PALMER INFANT DIES AT HOSPITAL

Cheryl D. Palmer, one of twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Palmer, 28 West Prospect street, died this morning at Mansfield General hospital. She was 14 days old.

Surviving, besides the parents, are a sister, Carol, a brother, Jack Lee, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Palmer, and Fred Durbin.

Funeral services will be at the Jones Memorial at 3 p. m. Thursday with Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger of the First Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

WORKMAN NEEDS CLOTHING FOR JOB

A temporarily unemployed Mansfield father of seven children needs suitable clothing for outside work to support his family, harassed by sickness for several years.

Mrs. Jane Williams, Mansfield Community Fund secretary, said today that the industrial plant employe had been "furloughed" until the first of the year and that he has been unable to find other inside work. The outside work he could obtain cannot be taken unless the man receives suitable clothing for such work.

Needed are a warm sweater and jacket, size 38, and trousers, size 30.

Mrs. Williams said that a local sorority has offered to "adopt" the family for Christmas.

All persons wishing to donate clothing for the father are urged to call the Community Fund office, phone 3599-6.

Miss Ida Ryland Dies In Barberton

Miss Ida Mae Ryland, 70, former Mansfield resident, died Saturday at the Citizens' hospital, Barberton, it was learned here today.

Miss Ryland was the daughter of the late Jennie and Wilson Ryland of this vicinity. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery, Barberton.

"Now watch me make Grandma mad—I'm going to call her 'Grandma'!"

Up and Down The Street

HE STARTED IT—

First donation to the Friendly House building campaign was not those $100 checks, but a thin dime carried around for a week in Jamie Hoffman's jeans, and donated by the three-year-old for "that new place." Mrs. Mary Gimbel, assistant director of the Friendly House, said Jamie made his contribution to the $60,000 drive voluntarily when he first heard of the campaign. The drive opened Monday. Jamie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hoffman, Yale drive.

OUR 'ISLAND HOME'—

Don't get excited and run out and buy yourself a rowboat to keep in the basement, but it has been discovered that Mansfield is an island, entirely surrounded by water! Authority for this amazing fact is Lewis K. Cook, historian and cartoonist, who conducts a feature called "Ohio Oddities" for an Ohio paper. In a recent cartoon titled "Ohio's Island City" Cook points out that the Clear Fork, flowing southeast, and the Black Fork, flowing northeast, start from the same small lake near Five Points north of Ontario. They join near Loudonville to form the Mohican river. Thus Mansfield is an island—surrounded by water.

LIKES HIS RIDE—

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn was to return to Mansfield today, completing a five-day air jaunt to California. Post-cards still arriving at the city building tell of the trip in enthusiastic phrases. If the mayor wasn't a "flying man" before, he apparently is now. Describing his trip over the Rockies, the mayor wrote: "smoother than the family bus. Very comfortable." The trip was part of an official vacation—"probably the only one I'll have this year," he said. It was free, too. The mayor flew as guest of a DC-3 cargo crew whose airplane was to bring east parts from a west coast aircraft factory.

CALENDAR TIME—

Mansfield Boy Scouts will be on the go again this weekend distributing attractive 1947 Scout calendars to the various business houses in the city. This year's calendar is by Norman Rockwell and features the theme "All Together." Scouts are shown helping each other ascend a mountain with their faithful dog struggling close behind.

WAITING—

A Christmas night telephone call from Frankfurt, Germany, is being awaited today by Fire Chief and Mrs. L. J. Steele. It'll be from their son, Robert, an army sergeant and chief clerk of a service section there. Chief Steele says the whole family will be "in" on the call. A message from New York lists the call as scheduled for 10 p. m. Dec. 25. Five minutes before the call comes through the family will be "alerted" by the telephone company, the chief says. "Then we'll be waiting for Mrs. Steele's best Christmas present—a call from Bob." Another son, Dick, is with the army engineers at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Mishap Victim Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Charles Quicksall, seriously injured in an auto accident Oct. 25 in Kemmerer, Wyo., was removed yesterday from Mansfield General hospital to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metz, 514 Clifton boulevard.

Her husband, also injured in the mishap, is reported in "good" condition at the Chicago Naval hospital.

Mrs. Quicksall suffered a compound fracture of the leg and a fractured pelvis.

CORRECTION

Through a typographical error, the story on the pay increase request of Mansfield school custodians in last night's News-Journal said the workmen would get $50 extra for night work outside their regular duties. The pay scale requested by the workers calls for $5 additional per night and $10 on Saturdays, Sunday's and holidays.

LAND CLEARING COMPACT MUST BE AUTHORIZED

Not Enough Councilmen Show Up at Special Meet to Vote Fund Appropriation.

Progress of Mansfield's Clear Fork water supply project was slowed a little last night when council couldn't get enough members together at a special meeting to appropriate funds for the land-clearing work on the project.

Unless another special session is called, this delays until January the time when a bid for the clearing job can be accepted.

Only six of council's nine members were present, making it impossible to appropriate funds to cover one of four bids for the job. Bids range from $73,000 to $89,000.

City Engineer W. C. Statler has urged speed in beginning the clearing work, citing the fact that this season is good clearing weather because swamps in the reservoir area are low.

Transfers Funds.

Council did, however, transfer enough money from one fund to another to make available cash for the clearing work. It now will have to be officially approated by legislation. Council has voted to meet next on Jan. 10.

Other legislation which the six-member council was able to pass authorized loan of three transformers to the Ohio Public Service company, and sale or junking of two, 1934 model trucks.

The OPS was authorized to supply Roger J. Au, Clear Fork dam builder, with power from a city line. Au will pay for the power.

First reading was given to an ordinance which grants a waste-paper container license to John M. Gottfried.

Removal of a log cabin on the former Bertha Nichols property in the Clear Fork area also was authorized. The cabin has been given to Boy Scouts.

WONDER DRUG GETS NEW USE

CLEVELAND — Penicillin mixed with hemoglobin, the red coloring matter of human blood, is curing wounds and sores where nothing else succeeds, the American college of surgeons was told today.

Lt. Col. Felix Jansey, of Northwestern university, Chicago, said the discovery was made in two American hospitals in England, which were short of medical supplies and on their own initiative tried for new uses of what they had.

Waste blood, of no use to anyone, was one thing these hospitals had in abundance. They extracted the hemoglobin, in the form of a red, sticky powder. They mixed it with water, making a jelly and into this jelly they mixed penicillin.

The mixture was placed directly into wounds. The cases at first were only those wounds which had failed to heal with all other available treatments. Penicillin, given internally, had failed. This was because in the blood the penicillin does not get higher than a certain concentration, and this concentration was not strong enough to kill some kinds of germs, which are highly resistant to penicillin.

But in the red blood mixture, the military surgeons placed a much stronger concentration of the wonder drug. In most cases, only one application of this penicillin in human jelly had to be used.

Col. Jansey said no bad effects of any sort had been reported. Hemoglobin, itself a human tissue ingredient, has naturally stimulating effect on tissue growth.

AIR FORCES GROUP TO STAGE PARTY

The Mansfield squadron of the Air Force Association will hold a party Jan. 17 at the airport for members and prospective members, James Wallace, squadron commander, announced yesterday.

Wallace said the party will be open to all former officers and enlisted men of the Army Air Forces, whether they were flight personnel or not, and to men and women who were attached or assigned to the air forces during the war.

Officers Nab AWOL Soldier

Millard J. Chambers, 21, Lucas, R. D. 1, was picked up yesterday by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in cooperation with Mansfield police on an AWOL charge, police said today.

Chambers, formerly of Louisa, Ky., had been AWOL from Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., since March. He is an overseas veteran. He will be turned over to military authorities.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK

LUCAS—Thomas J. Miller, one of the first men at the scene of the disastrous train wreck near Lucas last Friday, suffered a heart attack last night and is confined to his home. Mrs. Miller and their son helped in administering first aid and rescuing wreck victims last week.
